

Northeast Biochar Symposium 2009

The Northeast Biochar Symposium 2009 highlighted current biochar research and technological advances and provided vital information to public officials, researchers, farmers and landscape professionals, green industry businesses, and sustainable energy professionals.

This comprehensive symposium presented clear, practical, professional, science-based information

Click here for presentations, schedule, etc